

Rim Intelligence website, e mail temporarily shut down due to troubles

Thank you for using our website and allow us to take a moment to apologize for today's malfunction. Due to server troubles, the Rim Intelligence website has been unavailable for most of the day. At present the website is available, but could shut down again. We are working to restore normal operations by the end of the day. Furthermore, the troubles extended to our e mail server although that too has been temporarily restored. The e mail server may once again be taken down to facilitate troubleshooting of the main server issue.

Thank you for your patience and once again please accept our apology for this malfunction.
